

RADAR Leadership Coaching

Dramatically improve your personal effectiveness

The best athletes and many successful executives use coaches - an advisor providing an outsider's view of your situation. The leader's mindset develops the organization's culture. We use the following steps to help you work through strategic and personnel issues:

- ◇ Release preconceived notions
- ◇ Attitude check
- ◇ Diagnose
- ◇ Assess and analyze alternatives
- ◇ Respond

Emotional Intelligence (EI) is a critical to your success. The Center for Creative Leadership revealed that eight EI components (including stress tolerance, self-awareness and empathy) forecasts high performance., and verified that 50% of the leadership abilities to be success involve emotional and social skills.* How do you stack up?

The simple truths are:

- ◇ Emotions are simply another information piece that must be considered when making decisions. Do you consider the importance of emotions?
- ◇ Conflict and confrontation are based on what we perceive is threatened and why we retaliate and fight. We have 3 defensive reactions and 6 cascading outcomes. Can you appropriately handle each?
- ◇ Our expectations, biases and assumptions have a direct effect on the way we interpret the behaviors of others. Are you cognizant of yours?
- ◇ Monitor your own reactions, offensive/defensive/neutral & heighten your awareness to others
